Orlando, Fla., Aug. 13, 1912

Dear Editor: I have just receffed information from five responsible houses in various parts of the ountry. with whom I have been doing business for several years, stating that they can buy truit for November and December delivery at a very low price. The price they mentioned would not the grower around seven ty-five cents per box on the tree. With the present high cost of liv ing, price of labor, interest on mone and taking into consideration an ocensional failure of crop, etc., any thing less than a dollar net to the growers on the trees means a bare exfatence for the men who raise or anges, while at a dollar or above, they can live and fertilize their
